HISTORY & CONCEPT

HISTORY

Etching by goldsmiths and other metal-workers in order to decorate metal items such as guns, armour, cups and plates has been known in Europe since the Middle Ages, and may go back to around fifteenth century little earlier than the birth of etching as a printmaking technique.

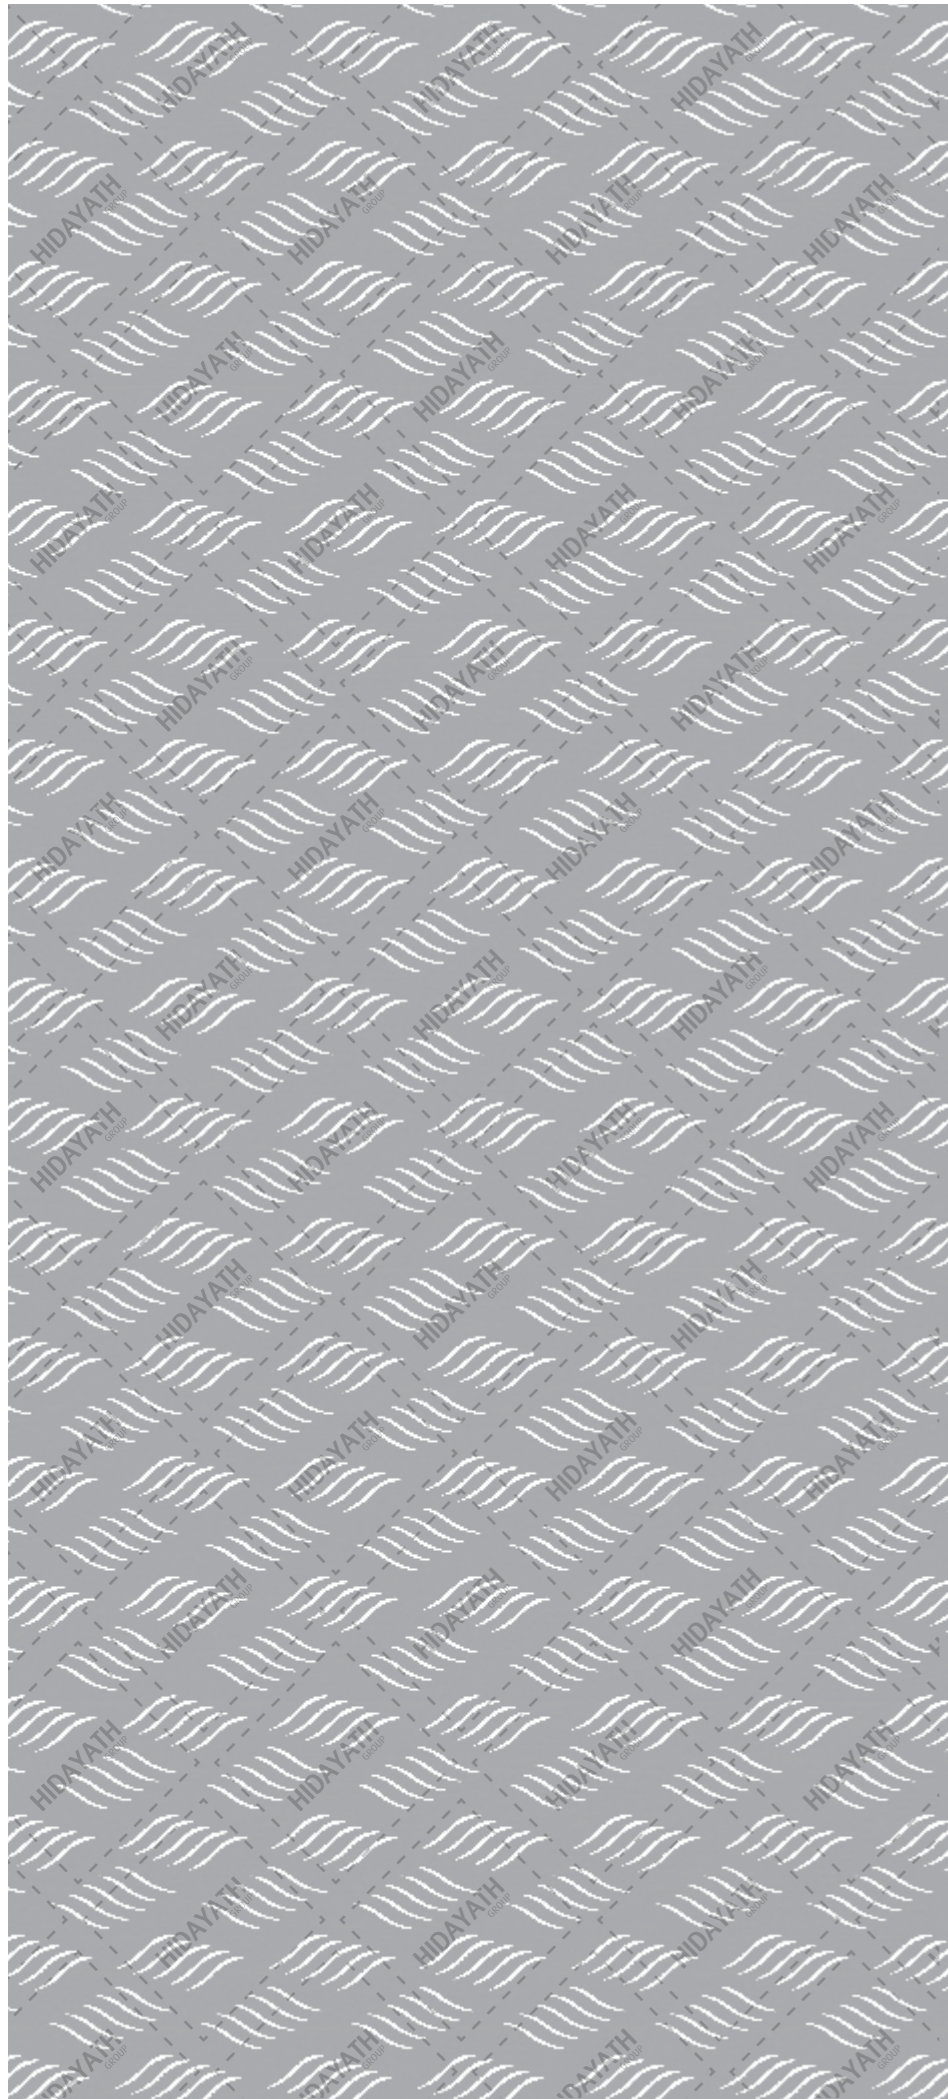

The process as applied to printmaking is believed to have been invented by Daniel Hopfer (circa 1470–1536) of Augsburg, Germany. Hopfer was a craftsman who decorated armour in this way, and applied the method to printmaking, using iron plates.

CONCEPT

Wet etching is achieved with the use of chemicals that eat away the exposed surface creating a matt, dull finished area with the contrasting base finish.

These finishes are most attractive when used with a contrasting base finish. (Eg. Brush with Etching or Mirror with Etching, etc.

Please tour through the catalogue to view the different design patterns we have readily available. Custom designs can also be made after approval of design by our production department.
